HardingPoorman Group awarded for help with the homeless

INDIANAPOLIS, IN - November 15, 2010

Three years ago, HardingPoorman Group (HPG) decided to get involved with Indy Homeless Connect by becoming a donation spot for books, socks, and funds for the organization. After being involved in just a few community outreach programs, volunteers from HPG came back fully engaged in the mission of Indy Homeless Connect, bowled over by the enormity of the homeless situation in Indy, and ready to expand our support of the organization.

From that moment, HPG was committed to the cause of helping the homeless, especially our neighbors on the northwest and west side of Indianapolis. More HPG employees began generously donating their time, energy and contributions to the organization, serving the needs at the Indy Homeless Connect each year. HPG was happy to honor our employee dedication with paid time off toward this work in addition to making significant in-kind and monetary contributions to benefit the Coalition for Homelessness Intervention and Prevention (CHIP).

Recently HPG was honored to accept the Blue Print Champion Corporation Award from CHIP. The award was given for our corporate giving, both financial and through the donation of volunteer (employee) hours. Christy Shepard, CHIP Board member and former HPG employee, presented the honor to David Harding and Bob Poorman at an awards ceremony also attended by many HPG employees.

HPG is proud to employ 148 full time staff, all of whom have fully embraced our corporate mission. The HPG team is pleased to support over 30 nonprofit organizations annually and continually encourages our employees to participate and support causes that are important to them - because we firmly believe active support of our community helps us all.
